Dating a gorgeous Russian lady? Know her culture!

If you're dating or thinking about dating a gorgeous Russian lady, there are specific things you should know about her and her culture to be able to keep her happy. Eastern and Western European cultures have numerous differences and what seems like a perfectly normal behaviour for an American man may be offending to a Russian woman. In order to help men understand the main differences between eastern and western cultures, we've put together a list with the most important things you should know.

One of the main things you will definitely notice is that Russian women typically do not agree with the feminist views that are spreading the western world. They have nothing against their partner being the head of the household and making all the important decisions. Russian women care about their partners and want to be respected as women and family makers. They believe it's very important to avoid humiliating their partner at all costs. For example, if a Russian lady is bothered by something, she will never make a scene in public as she knows this would mean disrespecting her partner. She will wait until they're in a private situation to sort the issue.

Russian women are also known for worrying about their futures often. If a woman goes on a date with a guy, she will try to figure out whether he is a suitable partner or not depending on his ability to provide for her and their future family. She will use that knowledge to assess whether he's ready for the responsibility or not. While most western men and women condemn this type of behaviour and consider these women to be so-called "gold diggers", it really is just common sense. It doesn't mean that these women will only date wealthy men, they just want to be sure that their husband can guarantee her and their family a happy and satisfying life. These girls just want to be sure of what kind of standard of living they can expect.

This explains why it's a good idea that you're the one who pays for the date as a Russian woman will use this to decide whether you could provide for her in the future or not. Because Russian girls don't agree with the feminist views, they actually think that paying for things is a matter of pride for men. No Eastern European woman would ever offer to pay for her meal as she would be worried about insulting her date by insinuating that he doesn't have the money to pay for himself. Women from Russia have a very traditional way of thinking and this is even more so when it comes to dating and relationships. Going out with East European ladies is perfect for you if you do not agree with the mindset of American women.

In addition to the two points mentioned above, Russian ladies prefer dressing in a sexier and more feminine way than many of the women in the United States. They like wearing skirts, dresses and high heels to look fabulous. While many Western European and American men and women agree that their style is too suggestive and sexual, it's just an element of their culture to look attractive for their husbands.

There are plenty of differences in American and Eastern European cultures. Following these tips above should help you get the most out of your international dating experience and could make a dream of marrying a beautiful Russian woman a reality.
