Online dating sites are full of happy singles dating each other via webcam dates, chats and emails. If you've been looking for romance online too and have found your ideal match, you could be wondering how to go on next. If the two of you are busy preparing for your travel to Russia or her travelling to where you live, it could be difficult keeping the online relationship going. When taking a look at statistics, there are tons of married couples who have had to spend some time apart in their partnership. It doesn't matter whether the partners met and conducted their courtship online, or met personally on a holiday or through a dating agency, and had to go back home to arrange for the paperwork of being together, this just means that there is hope for long-distance marriages to work out.

It's essential to be in constant contact.

Communicating constantly is important in any partnership and even more so when it comes to international singles dating online since the aspect of being physically together is not yet possible. Emailing and calling regularly will make you feel more connected and closer. These are factors that are essential to make the relationship function and weather through any problems. Thankfully, modern technology is on the side of online couples everywhere in the world. And the best part, these countless communication ways that enable you to communicate daily are not expensive. Through a combination of virtual dates, emails and web cam chats, there really is no difficulty in keeping in touch.

Set your boundaries, goals and expectations with each other.

Some people may have feelings of insecurity and jealousy in a relationship. You may be imagining the other guys who could be chatting to your gorgeous Russian girlfriend and have the same feelings about her. On the other hand, your other side could be wondering just how special she is or if it's even true that she's the only girl in your life. While these musings can't be controlled, what's under your control is the way you deal with things like these together. Online couples who have successfully navigated the treacherous waters of long distance dating have discovered that setting expectations as well as clear boundaries for each other will limit the chances of having misunderstandings and quarrels over petty jealousies. Since your common goal is to get married and be together, it's quite reasonable to demand from each other to stick to certain rules especially when it comes to members of the opposite sex.

Discuss matters of money honestly.

If there is one aspect that may bring a negative image to interracial singles dating sites, is the stories of frauds and scams. To eliminate any doubts regarding the possibility of a fraud, have honest conversations about both of your finances. If you have been talking about how your day's been going and you know she has been shopping, you could ask what she bought and how much it cost. From what she answers you can see if your girlfriend has a sensible attitude towards money. You want to have these conversations, particularly if you're just a regular guy working hard to make a living.
